HIGH FREIGHT RATE MAY AID SEA CARGO

Shipping Board Will Seek to Build Up Merchant Marine.

The United States Shipping Board has determined upon a policy by which the exhorbitant freight rates charged now will pay for a large part of the extra expenditures inpart of the extra expenditures in-volved in building up an American Alerchant Marine. Shipowners or charterers will be allowed to make a fair profit on government con-tracts, and on other than war necessities, will be allowed to make necessities, will be allowed to make an additional profit.

The plan worked out by the shipping board comprehends a flat rate to be fixed on all war commodities. This rate will allow of a reasonable profit to the shippers. On cargo space, not taken up by the government or given over wholly to private shipments, the shipping board will allow the market freight rate. From this, however, will be deducted 5 per cent of the excess above the governments price, which will go to the shipper, along with the flat war price, and the remainder of the excess will be turned back into a sinking fund. The sinking fund will be used to defray, in so far as possible, the inflated prices which it is conceded will have to be expended in carrying out the board's program.

The board, at its meeting yester-flay, also took up the estimates

The board, at its meeting yester-day, also took up the estimates which are to be presented to con-ress.
